Raj,

In organizing efforts for Haiti you may want to reach out to Michele Pierre Louis, the former Prime Minister, who is on the ground. I have attached below a short email describing the situation. She is a superb executive and has one of the best insights into what is needed.

Stewart,

We are safe but Port-au-Prince is destroyed. My apartment is gone. FOKAL is safe fortunately but a few employees had their homes destroyed, like mine. The phones don't work so it is easier to stay in touch by internet.

The situation is dramatic. the government is powerless. The Palace, the Parliament, the Ministries, the Minustah are non operational. We cannot count the dead. [redacted] is dead and Minustah's headquarters collapsed. We ran out of medical supplies, water, food for the first reliefs, and then we have to think about reconstruction.

As soon as we can talk I'll call you to talk about specifics.

The hard part is that there have been over 40 repeats after the first tough seism and we don't know if it is over yet.

We keep in touch.

Michele

Michele,

I heard you, Loraine and the family are ok.. Please call me if you have a chance or ask Loraine to. I talked with [redacted] and want to discuss how we can be helpful.
