Cheryl,

[Redacted]

As I'm sure you're aware I've had the privilege of leading our Embassy through an extraordinary period of transformation, including the move to normalize diplomatic relations and appoint an ambassador, one of the important indicators of success. Much of the progress that we've seen over the last few months is thanks to the game changing visit of the Secretary last December.

Things seem to be moving at warped speed in Burma – I hope they continue on a positive path.

Best.

Cheryl,

Since the Secretary's visit last December the pace of activity has only picked up. As I'm sure you know there's a great deal of excitement out here over the April 1st election and what a good election could mean for Burma/U.S. relations.

[Redacted]

you

Regards,
Michael
