Hi Denis,

Mark knows [redacted] you may not. I have mentioned him to Jack. The article below suggests the DoS is considering [redacted] for a top global health position. I am not sure what this would be other than Assistant USAID Administrator for Health. [redacted] is a great guy and [redacted] [redacted] but Leahy has personally urged Obama and Clinton to select [redacted] [redacted] for this or a comparable position and for a number of reasons [redacted] (also [redacted] since he was [redacted] for the Clinton Administration) is more qualified. Given that Leahy goes to bat for the State Department and USAID multiple times a day despite all the dumb things they do, I hope Cheryl Mills and the Secretary know that this is a big deal for Leahy (as opposed to some of the other job seekers for whom he has written letters but not made personal calls for). Leahy asked me again where things stand with [redacted] the other day, and I told him I'd heard nothing. He will probably ask the Secretary when she testifies here next week, but anything you can do on [redacted] behalf would be appreciated.

Tim
