Subject: Joint Statement Final Negotiations

Its 0430 and our team has just concluded a long evening of negotiations with the Chinese side. Although the deliberations were very tough at times, I think we have arrived at a final agreement that we believe will be acceptable. We will need to incorporate the economic language once Mike is done, and I expect that it is possible that VFM Cui may come back with one or two minor changes at the last.

We woke Jeff up at 3 am and he helped us to adapt the formulation [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Sung Kim joined us this evening and was extremely helpful in wordsmithing the North Korea section. Please take a look at the attached ad ref final text.

I am scheduled to meet with VFM Cui on the White House lawns at 0830. We have set up a process to make final edits if necessary. Our teams are working on ensuring that a properly formatted document is ready to launch pending final formal approval. We are also coordinating with the Chinese on translation issues, as well.

We are all pretty tired.
