Thank you so very much. I will be in very early tomorrow.

We need to "win" this coming week -- maintain security, dramatically scale commodity flow to Haiti via multiple routes, and address "last mile" delivery to Haitians while simultaneously building confidence in the government, the aid system, and the vision for the future. We'll be very focused this week and continue to learn fast and establish processes here and Haiti to allow this effort to succeed.

Thank you again for your generous note and powerful example.

Raj
