Dear Marc, thank you so much. The Peshawar attack indeed was very shocking and we are sorry about the injuries suffered by US Consulate personnel. This attack was certainly a retaliation to the effective and well coordinated actions taken by the US and Pakistan forces on both sides of the border. According to our information such attacks are likely to intensify in the next 2 weeks or so. We are looking forward to your trip to Islamabad. Glad to learn that you are back on your feet. Best wishes. Jalil

Dear Jalil,

I wanted to send you a quick note on today's attack on our convoy in Peshawar.

By all accounts we have seen so far, we are lucky that the damage and casualties were not worse. We are grateful for the intervention of Pakistani security contractors assigned to protect our housing facilities, whose rapid response limited the casualties. Our embassy acknowledged their actions in a statement we released earlier today. We also appreciate the statement the MFA released condemning the attack and pledging an investigation.

This highlights the importance of the work we are doing together to fight terrorism.

I am look forward to continuing our discussions on this and other areas of our workplan when I hope to see you later this month. Thank you for your latest response, which we received last Friday. I think this remains an effective way to frame our engagement going forward and will follow up in more detail when I see you.

Thank you again for the timely response of your government to today's attack, and for all assistance rendered to our mission.

All the best.

Marc
