

| |
|-----------------------|
| RELEASE IN PART B6 |
|-----------------------|

From: PIR <preines [redacted]>
Sent: Sunday, January 20, 2013 8:39 PM
To: H; CPM
Subject: Re: Cole's Paper

B6

(I've been waiting for the NYT jab...)

This is actually something you've spoken about often, the impossibility of pulling a Kissinger in this day and age, sneaking to China without anyone knowing. Let me pull that from something and spruce it up for Cole - who I thought was a sports nut.

From: H <HDR22@clintonemail.com>

Date: Sun, 20 Jan 2013 20:34:10 -0500

To: 'capriciamarshall' [redacted]

Cc: 'preines' [redacted]

Subject: Re: Cole's Paper

I'm happy to respond. What's the deadline?

I'm copying Philippe, the well-known NY Times travel consultant, who has thought about this question, to ask for his thoughts.

From: Capricia Marshall [redacted]

Sent: Sunday, January 20, 2013 03:35 PM Eastern Standard Time

To: H

Subject: Cole's Paper

He is writing a paper comparing your tenure as Secretary to that of Kissinger as it relates to the media. He makes the argument that Secretary Clinton's tenure as Secretary is harder than Secretary Kissinger's because of the 24 hour news cycle.

This is Cole:

My question for you is: (and no need to respond if of course you prefer not to! - not essential for the paper):

How do you think your job would have been different in the time of Kissinger - specific to the effects of media between now and then?

Thank You,

Cole Marshall