Thank you, Cheryl. That means a lot. It was a huge honor to serve the Secretary, and I learned immeasurably from you. Thanks for your smart edits, tough love when necessary, and insightful advice.

Best of luck to you, and please feel free to get in touch if I can ever help with anything.

Thank you so much for all you have done – not only in terms of serving the Secretary well, but also the leadership of and advocacy on behalf of the speechwriting team. You have been an impeccable partner and I am grateful for your open, candid and transparent approach. It has helped me strive to do a better job and I will be eternally grateful for that.

I wish you the best of luck a back west. And if I can ever be of assistance, know that I would be honored to have the chance to do so.

Best.

Today marks my last day at the State Department. Megan
Rooney will take over management responsibilities for the speechwriting team until the transition.
