

RELEASE IN PART B6

From: Cheryl Mills [redacted]
Sent: Tuesday, May 12, 2009 10:13 PM
To: H
Subject: FW: Washington Post Mobile - Capricia Marshall to Be Named Chief of Protocol

I really dislike them

From: nora.toiv [redacted] [mailto:[redacted]]
Sent: Tuesday, May 12, 2009 9:44 PM
To: cheryl.mills [redacted]
Subject: Washington Post Mobile - Capricia Marshall to Be Named Chief of Protocol

B6

washingtonpost.com

Capricia Marshall to Be Named Chief of Protocol

44 Editor

Updated: 05/12/2009

By Al Kamen

The long-expected nomination of Capricia Marshall, White House social secretary during the Clinton administration, to be the new chief of protocol looks to be happening shortly. The job, which carries the rank of ambassador and is a Senate-confirmed position, is to handle official visits of dignitaries at both the White House, Blair House and Foggy Bottom. The protocol chief is housed at the State Department.

By custom, the head of protocol also may travel with either the secretary of state or the president, but that is not going to be the case in this administration. We're hearing the White House may create a new position for someone who will direct all protocol matters for President Obama and will travel with him as well. The thinking apparently is that Obama would want someone he knows and who he is comfortable with to be with him on overseas trips.

(c) 1996-2009 The Washington Post Company