Subject: CNN on Westerwelle

This is what CNN reported on Guido and vesting - I was surprised that he'd even have the "belongs to the people of Libya" lean.

German Foreign Minister Guido Westerwelle said participants in the Qatari capital, Doha, were discussing the possibility of using frozen Libyan assets for the fund.

"I think this discussion about the trust fund is very interesting," he told reporters. "And we will look into it because the frozen international money belongs, if it's government money, to the people of Libya."
